

Ms Goh Yiping
Partner, Fund II Asia
Quest Ventures

Goh Yiping is a Partner for Fund II Asia at Quest Ventures, a leading venture fund for technology companies that have scalability and replicability in large internet communities.

Prior to this, Yiping was Chief Product Officer of MatahariMall.com, the largest omnichannel fashion ecommerce site in Indonesia backed by the Lippo Group. In 2014, Lippo Group acquired All Deals Asia, the Southeast Asia ecommerce aggregator and group-buying platform co-founded by Yiping.

Yiping is an Outstanding Young Alumni Award recipient from the National University of Singapore and named as a Top 100 Most Influential Persons at the university's 100th anniversary celebrations.

An advocate for female entrepreneurship, Yiping is a board member of the Female Founders Network. She was formerly an executive member of the Mobile Alliance Singapore.

She is a frequent speaker at Asia- and female-focused events such as CodingGirls, e27 Echelon, Girls in Tech, IE Venture Day, TMT Finance, and Tech in Asia. She has also been recognized for her outstanding work as a founder and trailblazer in Harper's Bazaar Singapore 2019 Power List, GenT 2018, The Peak's 2018 Power List,, and 40 under 40 Singapore.

Yiping has a B.Sc. (Hons) in Real Estate from the National University of Singapore, and a Minor in Engineering Entrepreneurship from the University of Pennsylvania (Penn Engineering and Wharton Business School). For leisure, she enjoys salsa, having a great workout in the gym and being the community manager for her son's Instagram account.
